

DPW Holdings Announces that a Court has Issued a Final Order and Judgment Approving a Motion for Approval of Settlement in the Derivative Action Filed Against It as a Nominal Defendant and Its Directors

July 17, 2020

Newport Beach, Calif., July 16, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- On February 25, 2020, DPW Holdings, Inc. (NYSE American: DPW) a diversified holding company (“DPW,” or the “Company”) announced that on February 19, 2020, DPW entered into a definitive settlement agreement (the “Agreement”) between Plaintiffs Ethan Young and Greg Young, derivatively on behalf of Nominal Defendant DPW against the Company’s then directors and DPW itself, Case No. 2:18-cv-06578, filed in the United States District Court (the “Court”) in the Central District of California on July 31, 2018.

On April 15, 2020, the Court issued an Order (the “Preliminary Order”) approving a Motion for Preliminary Approval of Settlement in the Derivative Action filed against DPW as a Nominal Defendant and its directors who served on its board of directors on July 31, 2018.

On July 16, 2020, the Court issued an Order (the “Final Order”) approving a Motion for Final Approval of Settlement in the Derivative Action filed against DPW as a Nominal Defendant and its directors who served on its board of directors on July 31, 2018.

On July 16, 2020, the Court entered a Judgment based upon the Final Order.

Under the terms of the Final Order approving the Agreement, the Company’s Board of Directors (the “Board”) will implement certain reforms to the Company’s bylaws, committee charters, corporate governance policies, and the composition of the Board, including the resignation of a current director and the appointment of two new independent directors (collectively, the “Reforms”), one of whom has been appointed to the Board. In addition, the parties have agreed upon a payment of attorneys’ fees in the amount of $600,000 payable by the Company’s Director & Officer liability insurance.

The Agreement contains no admission of wrongdoing. The Company has always maintained and continues to believe that neither it nor any of its directors engaged in any wrongdoing or otherwise committed any violation of federal or state securities laws or other laws. In deciding to settle the matter, the Company believed resolution of the matter was a more beneficial option versus a drawn-out litigation of the issues raised in the lawsuit.

In its Final Order, the Court noted that the Company had complied with its filing requirements as set forth in the Preliminary Order and that no stockholder had objected to the Agreement as of the date of its issuance and further found that the Agreement was “fundamentally fair, adequate, and reasonable.” As a result, the Court granted Plaintiff’s Motion for Final Approval and issued a Judgment consistent with the Final Order.

“As we have stated from the outset of this litigation, DPW has always believed and continues to maintain that both it and its named directors acted appropriately despite the claims made against us. We look forward to moving forward and growing our business unimpeded by the distraction defending ourselves against this action has caused,” said Milton “Todd” Ault, III, the Company’s CEO and Chairman.
